

II

beyond the brittle towns asleep i look where stealing needles of foam in the last light

thread the creeping shores as out of dumb strong hands infinite the erect deep upon me

in the last light
pours its eyeless miles the chattering sunset ludicrously dies,i hear only tidewings

in the last light
twitching at the world