

this is a rubbish of human rind with a photograph clutched in the half of a hand and the word love underlined

this is a girl who died in her mind with a warm thick scream and a keen cold groan while the gadgets purred and the gangsters dined this is a deaf dumb church and blind with an if in its soul and a hole in its life where the young bell tolled and the old vine twined this is a dog of no known kind with one white eye and one black eye

and the eyes of his eyes are as lost as you'll find
